

Workshop on Research Publication

November 25-29, 2019

The Gauhati University Institute of North East India Studies (GUINEIS) proposes to hold a Workshop on Research Publication in the month of November (tentative dates: November 25-29).

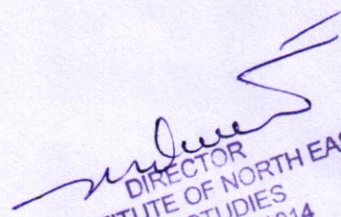

The Workshop is planned as a guided, hands-on approach to the writing of research papers with the aim of eventually making these ready for publication in specific journals suited to individual participant needs and nature of the research.

Professor Pramod K. Nayar of the University of Hyderabad, (who has a large body of interdisciplinary published work in reputed international journals and with major publishers) has kindly consented to conduct the Workshop which is open to younger University faculty and research scholars who are keen to begin an active career in writing and publishing their research.

The Workshop will be multidisciplinary (open to Arts, Humanities and Social Science disciplines) and will encourage interdisciplinary work. Participants will be selected on the basis of a proposal (maximum 1200 words) for the paper they wish to write during the Workshop that must accompany their applications.

No. of Seats in the Workshop: 25

Applications on plain paper, containing institutional details, discipline, email addresses and phone numbers, and addressed to the Director, GUINEIS, may be submitted at the GUINEIS office latest by October 30, 2019. Selected participants will be informed by email by November 6, 2019.
